

About the Center for Rural Policy and Development

In 1997, a group of rural Minnesota advocates came together around a bold idea: to create a rural policy think tank that would provide policy makers, rural advocates and concerned citizens with an objective, unbiased and politically “unspun” examination of contemporary rural issues.

Funded through a public-private partnership, the Center for Rural Policy and Development today is an independent non-profit research organization dedicated to the objective study of the economic, social and cultural forces that are impacting rural Minnesotans and the communities they reside in. Over the years, our audience has grown to include state legislators, city and county officials, community leaders, business executives, college presidents, school superintendents and everyday citizens concerned about rural Minnesota and its future.

Hopefully, you will agree that RMJ is one of those resources worth having. To that end, we invite you to visit our web site at www.ruralmn.org to learn more about the Center for Rural Policy and Development, our resources and programs, and ways you can support RMJ.
